What is Gaming?

Many people enjoy gaming, whether having a bet on the horses, buying the odd scratch card, or participating in gaming on a more regular basis. Gaming is an enjoyable pastime, but is not without risks, so let's keep ourselves informed and make safer choices.

So, what is gaming? Gaming is taking part in a game of chance for a prize. When gaming you might leave with less money than you started with, and sometimes with nothing at all.

What are the "odds"?

In gaming, the "odds" are the chances a person has of winning a bet, in other words, the probability or the likelihood of a specific outcome or event-taking place. For example, if you were rolling a dice and wanted the number three to come up, there is only one specific outcome; at the same time, there are six possible outcomes because the dice could land on one, two, three, four, five or six. Therefore, the probability or "odds" of you rolling a three is 1 in 6.

What does "Return to Player" mean?

Return to Player (RTP) is the term that gaming businesses use to describe the percentage of all the wagered money that will be paid out over time. RTP is calculated over the long term, rather than being calculated over the short term e.g., a single session. In the short term, the outcome may be vastly different, so you should only ever bet with money you can afford to lose.

What does "Random" mean?

Random means that each possible outcome has the same chance, or probability, of occurring. For example: When you flip a coin, the probability of it landing on heads is the same as the probability of it landing on tails, so you could say that it has a 50% chance or it's 50/50.

If a flipped coin landed on heads several times in a row, it's easy to think that it must come up tails on the next flip. However, the coin does not "remember" what it has landed on before, in the same way that it doesn't "decide" what to land on next.

No matter what has happened already, the probability of it landing on heads or tails is always 50/50. The result of a rolled dice or flipped coin is unknown and unpredictable, so we can say that the outcome is random.

2. Gaming Safely

Most people play for entertainment, fun, and enjoyment. Following these tips can help you to play safely and keep it enjoyable:

1. Don't think of playing to make money: Think of playing as a form of entertainment, just like buying a movie ticket.
2. Only play with money you can afford to lose: play within your entertainment budget.
3. Set a money limit in advance: When it's gone – it's over! If you win, great!
4. Set a time limit in advance: It's easy to lose track of time when you're playing.
5. Never chase your losses: If you lose your set money limit and then try to win some of it back before you leave, then you haven't really set a money limit. Chasing your losses will usually just lead to bigger and bigger losses.
6. Don't play when you're depressed or upset: Decision-making can be more difficult when you're stressed or feeling emotional. Make sure you only play when you're feeling happy and clear-headed.
7. Balance gaming with other enjoyable activities: When playing becomes your only form of entertainment, it's unlikely that you're still just playing for the fun of it, and your playing may even become a problem. Make sure playing isn't your only pastime.
8. Take frequent breaks: Playing continuously can cause you to lose track of time and perspective. Step out for some air or a bite to eat at regular intervals.
9. Stick to your budget!

3. Recognising Problem Gaming

What is problem Gaming?

Problem Gaming is an urge to play continuously despite clear harmful negative consequences or a desire to stop. Problem Gaming can be defined by harm experienced by the player and/or others.

Is your playing causing problems for you or others around you?

The following signs may indicate a problem:

1. Spending more money and time in a casino than you can afford.
2. Finding it hard to manage or stop your play.
3. Having arguments with family or friends about money and casinos.
4. Losing interest in usual activities or hobbies like going out with friends or spending time with family.
5. Always thinking or talking about Casinos.
6. Lying about your play or hiding it from other people.
7. Chasing losses or playing to get out of financial trouble.
8. Playing until all your money is gone.
9. Borrowing money, selling possessions, or not paying bills to pay for a visit to the casino.
10. Needing to play with larger amounts of money or for a longer time to get the same feeling of excitement or buzz.
11. Neglecting work, school, family, personal needs, or household responsibilities because of time spent in Casinos.
12. Feeling anxious, worried, guilty, depressed, or irritable.
